

Village Farms Provides Operational Update on Delta 2 Greenhouse Expansion

June 15, 2026 11:00 AM EDT

After successful harvest in first half of D-2 expansion, cultivation has now commenced in second half

Company to accelerate technology upgrades quicker than previously anticipated due to increasing demand

Expansion remains on track to yield incremental 40 metric tonnes of flower annually once complete next year

DELTA, British Columbia, June 15, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Village Farms International, Inc. ("Village Farms" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: VFF) today announced several operational updates regarding the ongoing capacity expansion project in its 1.1 million square foot Delta 2 ("D-2") greenhouse in British Columbia. The D-2 expansion commenced last November to convert the remaining 550,000 square feet of the greenhouse to cannabis production in a series of project phases scheduled through the first half of next year.

The Company recently completed a successful first harvest in the first half of the expansion and today announced it has commenced cultivation in the second half with an expected harvest date in late August. The Company has also accelerated its timeline of planned technology upgrades in response to increasing demand, and will complete lighting and other technological upgrades in the D-2 expansion during the fourth quarter.

President and Chief Executive Officer Michael DeGiglio commented, "Following the successful harvest we completed in the first half of the Delta 2 expansion last week, we are pleased to announce that we've commenced cultivation in the second half and are accelerating planned technology upgrades in response to increasing demand. These upgrades were previously expected to be installed in 2027 and importantly will not result in incremental capital expenditures as the equipment was already purchased earlier this year."

Mr. DeGiglio continued, "We expect the completion of the Delta 2 expansion to result in greater economies of scale as we ramp to full production, and the acceleration of technology upgrades will enable us to meet increasing demand for higher quality flower from our domestic and international partners. We expect the Delta 2 expansion will ramp to its full production capacity of 40 metric tonnes of dried, trimmed flower in the third quarter of next year, positioning us well to drive continued profitable sales growth next year and through calendar year 2028."

About Village Farms International, Inc.

Village Farms is a global leader in cannabis, plant-based consumer packaged goods, and sustainable innovation. With a legacy built on decades of Controlled Environment Agriculture expertise and Dutch farming practices, today the Company is one of the world's largest and most profitable cannabis operators with an asset portfolio that spans over 7 million square feet of advanced greenhouse and indoor cultivation assets.

In Canada, Village Farms operates the world's largest EU-GMP certified cannabis facility at its production campus in Delta, British Columbia, and exports products to international medical markets. The Company is also a market share leader in dried flower formats and produces and distributes some of the country's highest quality and best-selling strains, including its flagship Pure Sunfarms Pink Kush, one of the most widely consumed strains on the planet. Village Farms' Canadian brand portfolio includes Pure Sunfarms, Fraser Valley Weed Co., Soar, Super Toast, Pure Laine, Tam Tams and Promenade.

In the Netherlands, the Company is one of only ten licensed operators in the country's regulated cannabis program, and in the United States its CBDistillery brand is one of the country's premier cannabinoid wellness platforms, and it also holds equity interests in cannabis businesses in Australia and Germany. Beyond cannabis, the Company's Clean Energy division transforms landfill gas into renewable natural gas, and it also holds an equity interest in Verdexa Holdings (formerly Vanguard Food LP), a private venture pursuing strategic acquisitions to build a premier branded food platform in North America.
